Amphibious "Horse Marines" Perform In Pahokee's Spring Harvest Festival

"Leave it to the Marines" has paid off since Montezuma and Trip-to-lee: these abductions, amphibious, on-land-and-over-the-water-climbs, military men have a knack for making history.

Uniformed spectacles looked for in the Harbors of Panama and Whitehouse social gatherings these wearers of the half-globe insignia are welcomed by friendly navy, air and land task forces, throughout the world.

Irritatingly brazen at times--they deliver when de-livering is important.

They're coming to Pahokee, on horseback, by atomic jeep and by a vehicle that swims in the water and walks on land, hors d'oeuvres and clinks toasts or just rushes them out of the way.

The Marines assure the Spring Harvest Festival in Pahokee of an attraction to the youngest and a compact of satisfaction to the compression-drawing veteran.

ped troops will be on exhibition during the Festival at Pahokee, April 25th to 28th.

A four-horse color guard of Marines is also an item that will contrast the swimming, jumping and walking "P-35."

During the festival there will be contests among the single ladies of the Glades, age 18 thru 29, and a Junior Queen selected from a group of contestants age four thru seven.

Mr. Oehlert, President of Min-Mid is donating orange drinks and 7,500 cups for the occasion.

Competent pilots and sturdy helicopters will be on the grounds for rides.

It takes no sponsor for the Senior contest -- just $10 registration fee. Junior entrants only need a $5 bill and Mama's love in getting the Young Misses in that "pre-hike dress."

Entrance blanks may be had at Mercer and Johnson's or Pahokee or Wallis' Pharmacy in Belle Glade, or Keene Real Estate in Canal Point.

You may come for a "spend-the-day" outing Sunday, for the Seminoles will conduct religious services at eleven o'clock for all who will come.

The Marines are bringing a 40-ton, giant "P-5 through the St. Lucie and down the inland Waterway to a point opposite the Lions Club and then over the dike, across the toe-ditch and on to the football field.

The longest long and 12-foot wide carrier is fully equipped.

Glades Group Leads Seminole Life's "World Record" $3200 Week's Increase

Seminole Life Insurance, a Glades organized, owned and operated insurance organization, with home offices on Flagler Drive, West Palm Beach, recorded a fantastic "week's increase in business" of $3,200 in premiums; the Glades contingent lead the force with an average increase per man of $48.

The company's entire force of 72 agents set a record of an average increase of $44 per man.

Jack Cromartie, Agency Vice-President is seconded by J. C. Sims as District Vice-President. Both are Glades boys.

President Joe Tom Boynton of Pahokee has issued an Extra bulletin congratulating the field men on the accomplishment of adding $165,000 to the annual premium take.

Mr. Kleinline and Ralph Kirk are the supervisory leaders in the Glades area.

Ram Baseballers League Runners-Up

Unbeaten and unscored Forest Hill suddenly has broken out from the pack and unless somebody does some solving of the superb Falcon pitching and soon there shortly will be no more left to the Suncoast Conference's 13th baseball season.

While the leaders continued their winning ways in the past week, runnerup Riviera Beach came a cropper and surprising Belle Glade has pulled into the runnerup position. Forest Hill ended Riviera's unbeaten status with a non-counting 7-5 decision Tuesday, and then in league play Friday the Falcons blanked guest Ft. Pierce 4-0 and Belle Glade drubbed visiting Riviera 12-2 after succumbing to Vero Beach Tuesday.

Feature of a half dozen league games this week is Belle Glade at Forest Hill on a six-game card Tuesday. Also that day Stuart is at Vero, Clefiston at Riviera, Lake Worth at Pahokee and Palm Beach at Stuart, while Ft. Pierce visits non-league Cocoa.

Three games Thursday have Ft. Pierce at Forest Hill, a conference encounter. Two non-counters match Stuart and Vero again at Stuart, while Riviera visits Jupiter. Vero calls on Cocoa Friday.

Belle Glade has Ft. Pierce and rising Vero right behind it, so the Rams have no assistance of holding the lofty position unless they can halt Forest Hill.

But the Falcons now have won 10 straight, haven't allowed a run in Suncoast action and must rate as the favorites. Riviera still is very much in contention, but still afraid of being again and faces the vital decision on its pennant hopes when Forest Hill visits next week.

Next week, and the following week will close out conference play.

Forest Hill 4-0
Belle Glade 4-2
Riviera Beach 2-1
Ft. Pierce 3-2
Vero Beach 2-2
Lake Worth 2-2
Palm Beach 2-2
Stuart 2-3
Pahokee 1-3
Clefiston 1-5
Seacrest 0-3

UNCLE DAN from DOOLIE says:

Dear Mister Editor:

The more I try to figure out the human race the more I think Noah had too many monkeys aboard when he took off in the Ark. Take, for instance, this fellow that told a Chicago Judge last week that he'd been making a good living for 15 years stealing hub caps and selling 'em for 50 cent each. I'm shore one of my ancestors come from a excess quota of monkeys on the Ark.

Then I was reading this piece where the designers of the new 1954 model cars that's coming out this Fall is planning a lot of fancy gadgets. On one station wagon for the "executive type" it says they'll have a pull-out bar. If they keep on messing around they'll invent the running board again. And they say one or two of the 1954 cars will have 450 horse power. Now I'm shore the fellow that puts that much dynamite in a car had an ancestor on the Ark that belonged to the monkey family.

Well, I see by the papers where another "Doolie" has been discovered for milking Uncle Sam. It says here that the Navy Bureau of Ships planned to have a New York outfit make some "radar" equipment. They made a advance payment that was $2.6 million more'n what that radar equipment was going to cost. The company hung on to this excess money for three years after they paid it back to the Government. And while they was hanging onto it, they invested it in Government bonds for the three-year period and picked up $47,000 in interest.

What they was doing, Mister Editor, was using tax money to gain $47,000 in tax money.

I have writ to my Congressman and ask him if he can't get me a little advance money on my Soil Bank deal to invest in Government bonds to take care where my 1963 taxes. Natural, I ain't expecting to hear from him till the next election.

Two very disturbing items was in the papers last week in addition to them I have mentioned above.

A teacher in one of these home-making or seamap, or other classes in a New York high school brunt a washboard to class and ask the students to tell what it was. They wasn't a single one in the class that had ever saw one. I reckon you could say that when this generation can't tell what a washboard is, the link between them and now is gone complete and forever.

And a manufacturer of wimman's clothes in Milwaukee says the number of wimmen wearing pants has increased 400 per cent since 1954. He claims dressers will be cut of style by 1960. I'm glad, Mister Editor, I won't be around when it happens.

Yours Truly,
 Uncle Dan

Agriculturally Speaking

 Associate County Agent
 Glades Area

The 1963 Annual Beef Cattle Short Course at the University of Florida has been set for next Thursday, April 18th and will continue through Friday, April 19th and Saturday noon. An interesting program has been worked up for these three days and cattlemen have been sent detail copies of this program. This is the twelfth Annual Short Course and we in the County Agent's office urge all cattlemen to attend if it is possible to do so, not for the whole program, at least a part.

We also would like to mention that the Light Horse Short Course scheduled for June 7th and 8th at the University, sponsored jointly by the Department of Animal Science and the Florida Quarter Horse Association. A very interesting program on care and feeding of horses has been developed and should be of considerable interest to all horse owners and breeders. Anyone interested in obtaining a detail program may obtain one from the County Agent's Office.

The time is upon us to fertilize the stubble cane for next year's crop. This application, as to the amounts and analysis, should be based on a good soil sample. Dr. Forsee, of the Everglades Experiment Station, reminds us that in order to get a good soil sample that at least 15, and preferably 20 acres of soil, 6 inches deep, well distributed over the field be taken. These cores should be well mixed and about one pint of soil sent in to be analyzed.

The size of the field is not so important, (one to 80 acres) as long as it is fairly uniform and is to be planted to the same crop. Fertilizer recommendations can be made by the field being taken. For the Home Gardener—One of the most popular house plants is the African Violet and probably the worst disease of this plant is "soft rot." The "soft rot" attacks the leaf petioles and flower stems, as well as the crown and roots of the plant. The leaf petioles become quite water soaked and mushy. The leaves wilt and die. This disease is caused by a fungus which likes ample moisture. As a result, "soft rot" occurs primarily where plants have been over-watered and where drainage in the pots is not so good as it should be.

Control of the trouble is purely preventative and not curative. For this reason we should start the control when potting the plants and use a sterile potting medium. This potting medium should be of such consistency that good drainage will be obtained. Care should be taken when watering the plants to not apply too much water, and not too often.

Another problem with African Violets is that of the root-knot nematode. Damage by this nematode can be determined by the formation of knots or galls on the plant roots. Again it is important to use a sterile medium when rooting or planting African Violets as control after the plant is growing is very difficult with chemical materials that will control the nematodes without killing the plants.

6,444 Welfare Clients Receive $194,694.00 During March '63

Reverend Paul M. Cassen, Chairman of District 10 Welfare Board of the State Department of Public Welfare, reported that in Palm Beach County 6,444 persons were assisted in the four categories of public assistance for the month of March 1963.

A total of 1,850 persons received Old Age Assistance in the amount of $89,053. 107 persons received Aid to the Blind, totaling $6,608. 1003 families, representing 3,211 children, received Aid to Dependent Children in the amount of $53,111. 399 persons received Aid to the Disabled in the amount of $22,838. In addition 353 children received service during the month.

Higher Education Tax Relief Asked By Paul Rogers

Congressman Paul Rogers today introduced legislation to allow college students or their parents to deduct up to $800 per year in higher education expenses.

In a House speech, Rogers said that the rising costs of higher education prevent many capable students from continuing their studies. "During the past decade," he said, "higher education tuition fees have risen some 56 percent, putting such opportunities far beyond the reach of many unable to meet these expenses." The Rogers bill would include deductions for the costs of ordinary living expenses as well as the cost of books and tuition.

The Florida Congressman then said that college and university enrollment was expected to increase some 30 percent by 1965, and 66 percent by 1970. "The impact of these figures can be readily seen in Florida," he added, where we have been building new facilities and enlarging present ones to keep pace with our expanding industrial and social needs.

In closing, Rogers said that his bill providing tax deductions for education expenses would accomplish the desired results through rewarding individual initiative rather than relying on Federal assistance. "This principle seems more in keeping with our national goals," Rogers said, "and we will achieve these goals efficiently instead of adding to our already overburdened programs of Federal spending."

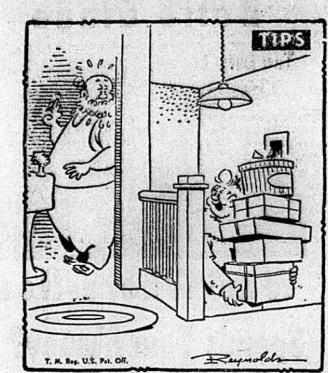

231 of whom were in foster homes. The total state and local cost for these child welfare services was $13,084.29.

There were 10 adoption petitions studied for the Circuit Court. These are children placed in homes independent of service through a licensed child placing agency, and the Welfare Board is responsible according to law to make these reports to the court.

TOTAL PERFORMANCE:

YOU'LL KNOW WHY FORD SWEPT THE FIRST FIVE PLACES AT DAYTONA...WHEN YOUR '63 FORD IS STILL GOING STRONG YEAR AFTER YEAR

Daytona's big, banked oval puts unbelievable stresses and strains on engines, frames, tires, and steering. Yet Ford's Galaxie 500XL Sports Hardtop won at Daytona took all the punishment this famous track could dish out over 500 miles of grueling competition without missing a beat.

In the toughest of all stock car events, mechanical failures claimed over fifty per cent of the starting field. But of twelve Fords entered, nine went the distance. Ford took six of the first ten places.

Five-hundred-mile events like Daytona are a public demonstration of toughness, reliability and sheer engineering excellence that are part of the new generation of Fords. A test like this can't be duplicated on anybody's testing grounds—it's run right out in the open. Any car can enter. But only the car that has the best total combination of strength, balance, precision control and road-clinging suspension can win... that's what we mean by total performance.

Visit your Ford Dealer before you buy any other new car. Here's what you'll find: a new kind of total car durability, a new kind of handling ability, a suspension that is startlingly smooth yet sticks to the road like tar. If you haven't driven one lately, you can't really know what a new Ford is like. Remember, if it's built by Ford, it's built for performance... total performance!

Order Of Arrow Inducts New Members

By Marilyn Felsing
Last Saturday five Boy Scouts were inducted into the Order of the Arrow, a society for scout honor campers. These boys had to pass a rugged ordeal which started Friday night at Camp Tanah-Keele when, after short ceremonies, the boys were led out into the woods to spend the night with themselves, God, and nature. After a fairly well slept night (it didn't even rain!) the boys were brought back to camp to partake of an enormous breakfast, consisting of a slice of bread, one raisin, and a cup of milk. After this feast they were assigned to work parties and began their day of toil, with only talking!

At lunch they were treated to an extra blob of peanut butter on their slice of bread and had Kool-aid instead of milk. After lunch they had a short discussion period when the boys could ask questions about the ordeal. Then it was back to work. One of the rewards of the day came at supper, where the boys were treated to Barbecue chicken, baked beans, salad and peeps.

Shortly after dark the boys were tied to a rope in a long line and were led to the ordeal ceremony where they were inducted into the Order of the Arrow. In spite of all the hard work, scant food and silence, the boys enjoyed the weekend tremendously. Those inducted were as follows:

Gene Hollingsworth, Troop 621, Belle Glade; Roy Caraway, Troop 628, Pahokee; Rudie Barton, Troop 600, Clewiston; Mr. Tom Martinez, Troop 626, Pahokee; and Ricky Dixon, Troop 680, Okeechobee.

Jr. College President To Speak At 15th Annual Inter-Racial Council

When the Belle Glade Inter-Racial Council celebrates its 15th anniversary with a public meeting, Sunday, April 21st, it will have as its main speaker the president of Roosevelt Junior College, Gritton G. Sayles. The meeting, to which the public is cordially invited, is scheduled for 3 p. m. at the St. John's First Baptist Church, S. W. 8th Street and Avenue F, Belle Glade.

Mr. Sayles, who has the Bachelor and Master degrees from Howard University, Washington, D. C. and has done further study at New York University and Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, is well known to many in the Glades. He served as Principal of Okeechobee Center High School and the new Lake Shore Elementary and during this time served two years as second president of the Council. Just as the new Lake Shore High School was being completed and for which he had planned and worked so diligently, he was called to be principal of Roosevelt High School in West Palm Beach where he served for seven years. When the new Roosevelt Junior College was built five years ago he was named as its first president. He is also District Chairman of the Gulfstream Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Through the years the efforts of the Council have been to promote understanding between the races in order to effect better relations and to assist in the building of a finer community.

Why Bunny 'n Eggs

The customs and traditions of the Easter season are actually a strange mixture of early Christian ritual and ancient pagan beliefs.

Easter falls on April 14 this year. Officially, the date of Easter is the Sunday following the first full moon of Springtime - a formula dating back to the Old Testament.

When the Israelites were in bondage in Egypt, Moses led them forth by the light of the Spring's first full moon. This became the Passover season for the Jews.

Jesus was celebrating the Feast of the Passover when he was seized and crucified. Early Christians established the date Easter as a "movable feast" like the Passover. The two feasts were calculated on the same ancient lunar calendar so they would always occur only a few days apart.

Even before the Christians, the people of almost every recorded civilization had celebrated the wonder of Spring and the mystery of nature's rebirth at the time of Spring's first full moon.

The modern name for Easter comes from the Teutonic goddess of Spring and the moon, "Eostra".

The Easter Bunny may also have been introduced by her worshippers. Because the rabbit was born with both eyes open and because it usually chose the cover of night to forage for food, a parallel between the hare and the moon was soon drawn. To the early Christians, both were "open-wider watchers of the night."

This still doesn't explain, however, how the rabbit was endowed with egg-laying power -- a point of contention for youngsters in any civilization.

According to legend, Eostra, for some reason known only to herself, changed her pet bird into a creature half-hen and half-hare. Both the rabbit and generations of young egg-hunters - have been confused ever since.

The tradition of the Easter egg developed independently of the bunny, and only later were they linked in fable.

The ancient Persians claimed the world was hatched from an egg on the first day of Spring. At the vernal equinox, they celebrated their version of New Year's Eve by exchanging colored eggs as good luck charms.

The early Christians adopted the custom, consecrating eggs and staining them deep red, to symbolize the blood of Christ. During the Middle Ages, an Easter gift of colored eggs came to denote affection. Nobility exchanged artfully designed artificial eggs of silver, mother-of-pearl, and bronze.

But, colored eggs, no matter hard-boiled, proved a bit impractical to send through the medieval mail system. Usually the recipient opened his gift package to find shattered good wishes. More practical minds in the 18th and 19th centuries began to exchange Easter cards.

By the end of the 19th century, the humorous cards had come in vogue. Whimsical bunnies and gaily-colored Easter eggs were standard designs for most every card, according to the Rust Craft greeting card company.

Since the end of World War II, however, the trend has been back to the religious themes, says the firm. Today, typical cards incorporate traditional prayers and ancient legends in to modern greetings for Easter time.

Printed on standard book paper, it will be priced at $1.95, the publishers have announced. Easter Reflection

By Luther A. Key

Through the centuries non-believers and borderline Christians have offered many rejections and have evaded to a degree the resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ, however the church and orthodox Christianity has held firmly to the faith of the beloved apostles. To Christ-believing, Bible-studying Christians the resurrection of Christ was "The shattering of history by a creative act of God almighty." It was a world wide event as Paul said and proclaimed "God was doing something comparable with what He had done with the first creation," something in which the "new age" had arrived and the world was being transformed.

It is pointed out that belief in Christ's resurrection and that Christianity belong together so that each is essential to and somewhat dependent on the other. On the one hand, the resurrection becomes credible and derives its depth of meaning from the Holy One who broke the bands of death. On the other hand His resurrection fully confirms our human conviction, our Christian conviction, even as it did for the apostles, the conviction of the absolute undeniability of Jesus of Nazareth. The crucified, buried, resurrected Saviour.

The resurrection of Christ proves beyond any doubt the ultimate victory of righteousness both in society and the Cosmos and in the life of the individual. It demonstrates that there is no power stronger than the power manifested in the resurrection.

It demonstrates that there is a power in action stronger than the whole hideous alliance of all the evil forces that crucified our Lord. It demonstrates that cosmic evil has already in principle met defeat that we may have participated and a constant experience of the triumph in life and the power of the risen Christ. It means that since Christ arose "As the first fruits of them that are asleep" (1 Cor. 15:20), we in Him, may look confidently and anxiously forward to our own resurrection in which the tragic separation of body and soul in death, which is the ultimate fruit and power of sin, will be overcome. The body which we lay away in the grave will be raised, glorified, and restored to our redeemed spirit. Thus sin and every one of its disastrous effects upon us, and within us, will be finally and fully dealt with. "Therefore my beloved brethren be ye steadfast unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord for as much as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord" (1 Cor. 15:58). It is good for Christians to worship the Lord Jesus Christ, the resurrected Saviour, on Easter Sunday but it is better for Christians to remember that the Lord's day is a time set aside for worship of the Risen Christ throughout the calendar year.

SUNRISE IN HOLLYWOOD

This is the city where pretense is a profession . . . where emotion is an art. This is Hollywood's famous Bowl at sunrise on Easter morning.

Thousands raising their hearts and prayers to the Lord of Reality . . . of Truth!

Don't be deluded by the artificiality which sometimes claims the center of life's stage. There is a hunger in the souls of men which our air of well-being cannot hide. There is frustration, futility, despair—and man's calculated unconcern cannot disguise it.

To our churches—we turn to worship, hymn and prayer—we turn when we tire of dreaming and pretending. Can we claim any glory greater than that we are the children of God? Can we own any allegiance bolder than that we are the disciples of Jesus Christ . . . Risen, Victorious?

Easter is the climax of life's drama . . . on which the curtain never falls!

Fifteen members were present.

Education Bills

Put In The Hopper By Senator Blank

The first major educational appropriation bills of the 1963 Legislature were introduced this week by Senator Ralph J. Blank, Jr., of Palm Beach County for Florida Atlantic University. Senator Blank offered the Senate two bills providing money for the new university at Boca Raton; one for $150,000, to equip a dormitory, the other to reimburse the cabinet trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund for monies previously advanced for planning work at the school.

Also introduced by Senator Blank this week were a pair of bills designed to place Florida Atlantic University on an equal footing with other state universities in the university system. One bill revises a number of laws to make FAU eligible.

Benefits and protections which already are accruing to the older universities. The second bill would designate Florida Atlantic University as a member of the state depository system for public documents.

In other action on the Senate floor this week, Senator Blank introduced 7 bills amending the Workmen's Compensation Law in an effort to correct certain inequities which would result in fairer treatment for disabled workers.

I think mice are rather nice

How goes the rest of this verse, does anyone know? Some folks like mice. Some folks like dogs and some folks like horses, and one dainty little three year old girl we know likes snakes. To each his own, of course. Growups are allowed to peek at the following books, but mostly they're for kids; one on dogs, one on horses, and one on snakes, and such. If anyone can locate a good book on mice in the library we will include that one next week and maybe the rest of the poem. (copyright permitting).

All About Dogs, Burger
Do dogs think? I's any one breed more intelligent than others, Cal Burger, who answers these questions for us, is an author-illustrator who has illustrated many books about animals, including the very lovely little story about three wayfaring animals by Burnett. THE INCREDIBLE JOURNEY. His drawings, and some fetching black and white photographs help to tell his story. He relates how man developed more than one hundred distinct breeds within such groups as the hound, terrier, and working dogs, and how the dog, alone, of all the animals has come to have an intimate share in human lives. The dog has made great progress down through the years since primitive man first tamed a half-wild animal to help him in the hunt, and his history makes good reading. Horse Fever: A Guide For Horse Lovers and Riders. Johnson.

This disease is contagious, and most boys and girls are susceptible. If you have an incurable case, then this book can give you, and your parents, some pointers on how to live with it. Show horses, how to buy your own horse, what to wear, how to feed, equip, and ride a horse, first aid, and the talents you will have to acquire through practice and perseverance are all discussed. The photographs are clear and exciting. Pat Johnson is a riding enthusiast who has been a sports writer, and she has done a good job here of spreading the horse fever epidemic. Reptiles and Amphibians of the World. Hvasa. (translated by Blj)

There is an index at the end of this book. Whether you want to look up the Slimp Apoda, or the South Asian Paddy (that's a snake), or Rhinophrine of Mexico (a toad), you can find it easily. You may want to read straight through the book, or merely look through the illustrations, all in color, for a familiar face or pattern of snake skin. Whatever you prefer to do, there is a lot of interesting information here just for the taking.—Bunny Caselman.

YOUR NATIONAL GUARD

National Guardsmen from the Atlantic to Hawaii and from Alaska to Puerto Rico are engaged in intensive recruiting drives as "Operation Muster 1963" gets into starting gear. "This is a very old tradition," says Major General Donald W. McGowan, Chief of the National Guard Bureau, "but one which has very special meaning in this year."

Muster Day dates back to an early colonial practice when it was the custom to hold an annual muster of the Militia, usually on the village green, for the purpose of holding a roll call which could disclose the number of able-bodied men available to bear arms in the event of an emergency.

"Today, just as in those early colonial days, it is extremely important for the country and very community to know exactly which men can be counted on in the event of an emergency," Gen. McGowan explained. "Only today it is enough just to stand up and be counted. In order to be effective a man must be trained in the military skills he would have to use in a time of crisis and he must know how to employ these skills as a member of a trained team. He can get such training—both individual and team—as a member of the National Guard."

Young men who have reached their 17th birthday and can meet the physical and mental requirements for service can enlist in the Army or Air National Guard in their home State.

Miss Gail Masonic of Palm Beach Junior College spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Masonic.

Mr. James Jackson motored to Pitts, Ga., last week to bring his wife home. She was called to the bedside of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. McKinley. Mrs. Jackson report they are much better. While in Pitts the Jacksons attended a class reunion of all graduating classes from 1923-1940. The school mates held a Basketball game of which Mr. Jackson was one of the team members. Mrs. Jackson said that was quite a show to remember.

Pontiac isn't the only thing that straightens
curves

nicest.

Most people just don't care to drive a bulldozer. So the beautifully logical answer to straightening curves—or making them seem straighter—is a Wide-Track Pontiac. What's more, the Wide-Track's even wider this year. Better see your dealer about it. Wide-Track Pontiac now... Mrs. America has switched to flameless ELECTRIC in Florida!

In the "cooking events" at this year's MRS. AMERICA national contest all 61 finalists will use flameless electric ranges. Contestants will represent 60 states and the District of Columbia... Coronation night, April 27... at Golden Gate Hotel Auditorium, 194th St. and Collins Avenue, Miami Beach.
In switching to Electric Ranges exclusively, the "Nation's Most Outstanding Homemakers" are doing what more than a million Florida families have already done. Because "flameless electric" means CLEANER, COOLER, FASTER, SAFER... and CHEAPER, too.
"Flameless" is the BIG DIFFERENCE! No flame, no fumes, no constant-burning pilot light. Best today... tomorrow the only way. See the new electric ranges at your appliance dealer.

There's no Match for Flameless Electric Living

HUMOR

The Hunchback of Shmuckersville

By Wayne Wood

Once upon a time, (which is a nice way to begin any story) a far away corner of the world, there was a quaint little kingdom by the sea, known as Didd. Amid its rolling hills and teak-wood forests, in the very heartland of this small country, was a tiny bustling township of Shmuckersville. Shmuckersville was a merry little town, and the village square was always filled with frolic and revelry. It's population was comprised largely poor people farmers and a few tradesmen. The village then, as now, was a fat little kingdom, who lived in a bright red castle in the center of the peasant huts.

Overlooking the happy little village of Shmuckersville was great knoll, atop of which there dwelt a hunchbacked gnome, who lived in a crude bungalow made of birch branches, and seldom ventured outside unless he was bothered in intruding villagers. The villagers were friendly folk, and, decades before they tried to gain the hunchback's confidence, but in vain. Their spiteful efforts only served to aggravate his warped little skin. Shortly after their intrusions the hunchback had slipped to the village and absconded with the king's solid gold banjo, which represented the only semblance of wealth in the entire kingdom. This loss aroused the villagers' anger, and the village is temporarily in a state of chaos. The bewildered king then agreed that any man who recovered the lost banjo would receive the tidy sum of 13 gold doubloons and his daughter's hand in marriage as a reward.

The villagers futilely attempted to regain their lost possession of the old hunchback, but with disastrous results, for however wondered near the hunchbacks bungalow in search of a banjo was never seen again. Years went by, and the village actually lost its entire male population, with the exception of a king, who remained in a state of bewilderment in his tiny room.

The tale of the fate of Shmuckersville gradually spread over the whole land. A young and impetuous Harvard graduate heard their plight and immediately made his way to the tiny kingdom.

His arrival in Shmuckersville was heralded with great ceremony by the entire population including the now aged king. After quick accounting of the data on the case, the young and impetuous Harvard graduate developed a course of action.

Traveling incognito as a Fuller Brush salesman, he made his way to the hunchback's bungalow. After several sharp raps the crude door, he perceived a harsh croak from inside: "Bah! I don't want any!"

Instantly realizing that this approach futile, he doffed his disguise and craftily sneaked around to the rear of the hut. Peering through a lone window, he discerned a gnarled little figure amid a roomful of banjos; he could not espy the golden banjo, however. Inside his hands, the brain flashed a new idea. Recalling from earlier studies that all hunchbacked gnomes have affinity for banjos, he then donned a new disguise; this time a banjo salesman.

His rap on the door this time was instantly answered, and a stolid bellow, into the quiet below. His gaze was met by two piercing little red eyes, the owner of which immediately grabbed at the banjo-shaped case in the salesman's hands and began to open it. No sooner had the hunchback laid his hands on the case than he was smote to the floor by a micromagnetic force-field emanating from its interior.

The impetuous young Harvard graduate chuckled with lusty ke as he firmly bound the hands of the limp figure with a moment's pondering, he delved into an old oaken chest and withdrew the subject of his quest: the golden banjo. Continuing his miraculous ploy of ingenuity, he then commenced to decipher the cryptic message engraved on a brass plaque hanging overhead. Its knowledge immediately unfolded before him: "The anjos contained within these walls will bring great wealth to him who calls, 'Nikka ticks slucken vall' For there's a man side them all. And whoever chants this pall will break the spell and free them all." With incredible rapidity he translated so passage into Hebrew, Anglo-Saxon, Tibetan, and, finally, indistinct, his native tongue. After scrutinizing these words in very possible way, he instantly deduced that if he would only ter them, the male population of Shmuckersville would be restored to life.

Just as these words were about to leave his lips, a fiendish thought rippled through the cunning Harvard brain. Chuckling slyly again, he decided to disregard the salvation of Shmuckersvillans, and heartily heaped both the hunchback and the inscription into the smoldering fireplace. With the golden banjo tucked under his arm, he trundled out the door whistling "The Whiffenpoof Song" and saying "Bah, bah" on every other line.

He crisply trotted into the king's throne room moments later, and thrust the banjo into the eagerly-waiting hands of willy-eyed old king. The shock of seeing his long-lost possession gushed through the king's veins with such great gusto that he suffered a swift coronary attack. He had not over his agency as the pain surged through his sickly body. The young Harvard graduate quickly extracted a stethoscope from the folds of his own custom-tailored madras suit and placed it against the hairless forehead of the king. "Succumbed," he pronounced the king dead. Tightly he shoved the king's deceased form off the throne and assumed the seat himself. Being the only male left in the entire kingdom, he surped the monarchy and declared himself the sole ruler of the tiny little kingdom of Didd.

EPITAPH

For a generation, nothing has been heard from this obscure little kingdom, and, perhaps, nothing else ever again will. Rumor is it, though, that there exists in the little country not only one of the most thriving banjo industries in the whole world, but so the largest one-man harem ever before assembled at one time.

Student Of Week

Sharon Gail Motes, a dark-haired, brown-eyed junior who likes eating and water skiing, is our student of the week. She is known to some people as Clyde Junior, is five feet, six inches tall and drives a white Chevrolet. Her favorite color is blue, her favorite saying is, "How 'bout that?" and her favorite song is "I Can't Get Used to Losing You." The subject she likes best is an IBM course that she is now taking in West Palm Beach.

Sharon has taken music lessons for eight years and now plays the piano and the organ. She is ten piano students of her own.

When asked about future plans, Sharon replied, "Although my plans aren't definite, I plan to attend college and major in science or math and minor in music."

Mr. Haines of the Experiment Station was guest speaker at the bi-weekly Science Club meeting held April fourth.

The program was about the livestock investigation being conducted at the Everglades Experiment Station.

Mr. Haines explained that the work at the Station was on beef cattle only. According to Mr. Haines the work on cattle at the station is divided up into three departments headed by Dr. Kildner, Dr. Haines and Dr. Chapman has full grown animals.

Mr. Haines told the club that he work deal with private feeding and parasite control. At present Mr. Haines is conducting three types of pasture feeding tests. At the end of Mr. Haines talk, the club quizzed him for about twenty minutes on the problem of Heel Flies and cattle grub.

As far as the official minutes of the meeting go, the club seemed to operate but that didn't help my cause. I do wish the One and Only would ask me. But what will I do if he does. I have too many Now.

Dear Diary, Only ten days left to the prom. HE still hasn't said one word about going. Two more said they CAN go. And here I was worried that I wouldn't have a date. Now I have two more.

Dear Diary, Well I heard from two of my dates. They both accept. What will I do now? Still the right one hasn't asked me.

An Easter Story

By Petra Melanio

Easter lilies, bunny rabbits, colorful eggs, flowery bonnets—these are all a part of the Easter tradition. There is also another part which is very important. As the lovely old story of courage on the cross is told and re-told again, families begin to share their love and devotion not only within their own home but also with those friends outside. Another story, or perhaps legend would best describe it, is that of the dogwood.

The cross which Christ bore on that long journey and which has remained a symbol of Christianity, was made from a strong dogwood tree. After the crucifixion the sorrow of the dogwood in the sin it had helped to complete became so great that it grieved itself. Its branches became so slight and weak that it could hardly hold a full bloom. When it is in bloom, though, the dogwood radiates an innocence of purity and beauty as though it has been forgiven.

"And God so loved the world that He gave His only Son. Who died for us, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God so loved the world, that He gave His only Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God so loved the world, that He gave His only Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

Dear Diary, Well today was the last day to sign up out of school dates. I called all the boys I know. None were home. So I handed in the list of boys — all 25 of them. I hope one can go.

B. G. Romps Riviera

We have won 6 out of 8 of the games we have played losing only to Vero Beach and Ft. Pierce. We romped over Riviera Beach who until their match with us were unbeaten. We are to play Forest Hill today and I will have the results in my week's paper. I think that whether we win or not we will be the best team in the county of our skill and team spirit.

Teacher Of Week

A favorite of many students, Mr. Fortenberry offers guidance and understanding to all who need it.

He has been an outstanding teacher at B. G. H. S. for the past ten years and is now working on his Master's Degree at the University of Mississippi. Mr. Fortenberry attended Harding College in Searcy, Arkansas, and he also attended Florida State University.

Working with the DCT students on projects connected with their work, Mr. Fortenberry is responsible for seeing that they have jobs which will serve as future training for them.

The Art Club

The Art Club enjoyed its first social of the year at Mr. Eardwood's home last Friday night. Mrs. Eardwood, sponsor of the club, entertained with a lovely hamburger supper which all of the attending members enjoyed.

After dinner, the three new members, Maritta Lockwood, Becky Simms, & Nancy Shields were introduced to the old members. After having their faces painted and signs hung over their shoulders, they were taken to the bowling alley and did some sketching.

The members have just finished a mural to hang in the library. The mural is being made for the panels so the picture can be mounted this month.

The club is also getting ready for the soon-to-be art show.

The Gossiping Gandy

It seems that there has been quite a bit going on this past week. Brenda W. seemed to be busy mixing books one day last week, didn't she? I'll bet several boys who were a little confused. The road was a little slick on Dead Man's Curve on Sunday, wasn't it, Sallie C. How does it feel climbing out of a ditchly spaghetti car up a hill?

And speaking of Dead Man's Curve, Kay C. did I see you sitting on the side of the road with your car stuck in a ditch? I guess that's about as good a place as any for bird watching, especially if you have a good flat tire. And believe me, or not, even teachers aren't immune to having flat tires. You don't believe it? Then just ask Mrs. Eardwood. And believe me, or not, even teachers aren't immune to having flat tires. You don't believe it? Then just ask Mrs. Eardwood.

The dance! That reminds me of the Harvest Queen dance and contest. I think congratulations are in store for three of our girls: Laura R., Maria G., and Becky H. BGHS Student Wins State Office

By Janie Lee
Belle Glade High student Pat Foster returned last Sunday night after being elected state secretary at the F.H.A. State Convention in Jacksonville, this June. Pat will attend an instruction class in Tallahassee for one week. From there she will go to the National F.H.A. Convention at Kansas City held in July.

Attending the convention with Pat were Judy Seiler and Irene Ashten, two outstanding F.H.A. members. Chaperoning the girls was Mrs. Roy Litchfield, sponsor of the F.H.A.

The theme "Fostering the Heritage of America" was emphasized throughout the three days. One highlight of the program included an address by Sophia Svelta of Washington, D.C., entitled "I Am An American." Senator, Ben Johnston, closed the convention with a speech at a banquet held Saturday evening for the 900 girls.

Who's To Blame For Teenage Drinking?

By Janie Lee
Most Americans drink alcoholic beverages daily. A great percentage of these are teenagers. Who is responsible for this baffling fact? How can one expect teenagers not to drink when he parents drink socially or non-socially?

Many parents aren't aware of what is happening. They have to know when their son or daughter comes in, or that he or she have been drinking. The parents have retired for the night because they have to get up early the next morning or had a bad time the night before. It is true that parents could keep a closer check on their teenagers, and be more aware of where the teenager is and what he is doing.

Some people blame the sales personnel for not checking the I.D. cards closer. This is true, but if the blame is to be placed on the commercial world, the beverage companies should have a part of the blame. The forgers who make the false I.D.'s, a valuable for a price aren't helping matters any. The people over 21 encourage teenagers to drink. They should share in the blame.

I believe it is the teenagers sole responsibility for drinking. They should have known that alcohol is not the way to overcome money problems, class problems, and their environment. They have built themselves up in the world. Surely they can be individuals and stand up in the world, for what is best and right. Each individual makes his own choice. Do you make the right choice?

Alcoholism is both a been and a bane to mankind. In small doses alcohol is beneficial in exhausting fevers; is serves as a stimulant to digestion; and is an excellent source of energy. Since a great majority of the medicines today use alcohol the world would certainly be in a predicament without it.

Many people today indulge in liquors for the sheer pleasure of it. Statistics today indicate an increase of women indulging in liquors. Drinking is not a heritage of civilization, for the most primitive people produced and used liquors.

Of all the people drinking, an estimated 6 percent turn into alcoholism cases.

Harmful Habits Is Chivalry Dead?

By Judy Atkinson
Is Chivalry dead or just dying? It is a settled fact that it is not practiced as much as in earlier years. The question is if it is practiced at all.

In the past six months how many times has your boy friend or any boy opened the door for you, helped you to be seated, or shown you the courtesy of allowing you to enter a room first? Unless you have an unusual boyfriend — not very often! If you waited for your date to walk around the car to open your door for you, you would have just as much of a chance of getting what you want by waiting for Christmas to come in April.

It has been said that chivalry is lost because the girls have lost their femininity. This is a true to a certain extent, but what is the use of girls dressing femininely, if they have to open their own doors, stand while he boys' take it from me. Be a gentleman, open doors, offer your chair, you won't be classed as a "Sissy" or "square." You'll be classed as an all-right guy and well above the other boys. You'll find most girls like being girls. They like being the weaker sex, so why not let them be?
